Four Hundred Men from Edmonton Went to Search for Three-Year-Old

With one tiny hand holding his little cap, the other his little coat, three-year-old Bobby Ladd, after being lost in dense bush from his home near Dunstable since Friday morning last, was found lying dead at 2:30 a.m. Monday morning, apparently the victim of drowning by one of a party of more than 400 searchers who had driven out 55 miles from Edmonton to try and locate him.

By noon yesterday the confidence day of his birthday.

When the boy's corpse was brought back to the homestead wrapped in a mackinaw, greater reverence could not have been paid a dead child than that shown by the little people who had met so tragic an end. More than 200 strong men stood with their heads bared as the body was laid gently on a couch in a lean-to of the house. Judge G. H. Smith, one of the searchers, held a shroud near the farm buildings, sheltered from the hot sun by a poplar grove.

The sorrowing parents of the child gave their testimony as they also did an older brother and sister. It was decided that the child had died from exposure. Dr. Folinsbee, also a member of the search party, expressing his opinion, said he had gone to sleep 48 hours previously. The family will be held at Heaton Monday afternoon.

The whole countryside had been covered by the searchers. By late afternoon, many of the farmers having given up the hunt, it was decided that the time might be best used in the effort to find the lost boy.

Saturday the boy scouts were called out by R.C.P.C. and the men who had come to assist in the search were owing their leaving for their annual camp that night. The searchers were not obtainable.

The City Responded. Monday morning, in response to a further request from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, M. C. McCallum, who had published an S.O.S. call for help from the community, issued a statement that all men, more than 400 men, and several women volunteers were on duty in two crews under command of a captain. A large squad of the R.C.M.P. under command of Captain D. E. Evans also was at work.

The country in which the boy was lost was particularly rugged, of very dense bush, considerable muskeg, and almost entirely dry. The ground, though dry, had grass growing four feet high, while the scrubber bushes might be six or seven feet high. The child had to have been lying asleep when he was taken from a search and he overcooked.

Friday Morning. Little Bobby did not eat much breakfast; a meal half size was all he could manage. As usual, he went out to play in the yard with his brothers and sisters. One brother and a sister were sent out to drive some cows into a pasture. Both children were missing when their parents came home and told him to go to bed. The father went on to another part of the farm, and on returning to the house, he found his wife had again heard the cry of a child, but was not sure. On arrival in the

Legislature Meets July 24th
To Ratify Wheat Board Plan;
Formal Statement Is Issued

Government Announcement Claims Need of Wheat Board
Vital in the Province at Present Time—Alberta
Legislative Council Now in Regina Assisting in Framing of Model Bill for Both Houses—Session May Last Two Weeks.

Alberta's legislature will meet Monday afternoon, July 24th, in a special session to consider the proposed bill authorizing the establishment of a wheat board between this province and Saskatchewan.

This announcement was made Monday afternoon shortly before two o'clock, by Premier Greenfield, following a meeting of the executive council, an official statement issued at the same time giving reasons for the calling of the emergency session.

It was expected that the session would not be held for a few days after that the date now selected, but the fact that the legislature is adjourned already to do the work of the session, and the approaching harvest, made it necessary to take prompt action, were the casting factors in causing the government to summon the session for next Monday. Dr. Scott, legislative counsel for Alberta, is now in Regina co-operating with the Saskatchewan counsel in drafting a bill which will be introduced in both houses in committee on Monday evening. In the event of the Saskatchewan assembly adjourning until the end of next week after the bill is formally introduced, both houses will start on the actual work of consideration at practically the same time.

SENATOR SAYS

HIGH ON LIQUOR

Fries Out of Sight as Compared with Provinces of Ontario and Quebec

Victoria, July 17.—Inasing that British Columbia's liquor laws are unreasonably high when compared with those of other provinces, Senator G. H. Barnard has written a formal statement to Premier John Oliver in which he accused Senator J. J. McCormack of being responsible for the legislation asked for by British Columbia to "severely monopoly importation."

This Senator's statement, that in his first opinion that it is not all fairness it would be impossible for the government to amend the proposed act, was the cause of the recent action of the executive council.

Mr. Barnard quotes from an article in the "Daily News" of Victoria in which ordinary red wine and beer cost $1.25 a bottle, while British Columbia has none for sale under $4.00 a bottle.

He also refers to the price list of the Ontario government dispensaries, which shows the retail price of a 100 proof paraffine spirit of the two governments to be $1.25 a bottle.

The only thing left therefore Monday was to frame a statement on the matter and announce the date of

Montreal Conference on Labor
Will Have Edmonton Delegate;
McCormack or McCreath Will Go

Organized labor in the city will be represented at the national conference that will open Saturday.

At Monday's regular meeting of the Edmonton Trade and Labor council J. J. McCormack was elected as the representative of the organized trades in this city.

In this matter, the executive committee of the finance committee considered it advisable, as quite a fair balance is to be maintained, to let the members of the executive committee vote on the matter.

It was decided that the city could not afford to let the members of the executive committee vote on the matter.

It was also decided to draw to the attention of the executive committee the necessity of their members respecting the annual dues of $1.00.

Overlook this formality will be done, however, as the executive committee of the annual dues of $1.00.

Delegates Owen urged that a house of common cause be set up to give the citizens a sense of responsibility.

The majority and it was decided to come in with the organization of the city.

It was also decided to appeal to the council to make a contribution to the fund.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, July 17—Strength shown on the local wheat market early in the season today when prices advanced about two cents over the previous day, but fell back Saturday's close was recorded. The market was exceedingly dull but the undercurrent of strength was evident, particularly showing greater relative strength than October. The close was at 135 1/2 cents.

Buyers in the cash market refused to follow the lead of the regular market and held out from 1 cent to 3 cents. There was no new business reported, any new business being limited to filling old sales. Lower grades were also lower. Offerings were limited to 100 bushels each day except out of July. There was a large amount of wheat, it is believed, at the head of the table who had been holding it for a long time.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 17—Wheat showed a moderate upturn in price today during the early days of the bullish market seen in the cash market. An apparently encouraging outlook for settlement of the railway strike was reflected in the market, which tended further to H.V. rates here and so too did prospects of a good deal decrease in the cost of shipping grain. Big receipts here, 560 carloads, failed to act as an offset. The opening which was taken by the market on July 14, followed with September 13 to 14 and December 18 to 19, was a little firmer, while wheat and oats were a little weaker.

Whipping, reported last evening, were up to 14 1/2 cents higher. September oats were firmer while wheat and the initial range.

Canada Destined to Grow and Become Populous and Very Wealthy Nation

NEW YORK.—The Canadian Press, commenting on the steady growth of Canada as shown by recent census figures and the rapid increase in population from the United States to the Dominion, the "Daily News" says:

"Against the lead, acquiesced with the great forces as yet untouched, the north American continent will prevail, the agricultural possibilities of Canada, the mineral wealth of the country, the fact that many of the products will soon be live in the world markets that are now scarcely settled, will become a more populous and wealthy nation."

No nation is more ready to congenitally Canada and with her prosperity than the United States, whose neighbors and is with the exception of Great Britain, the most populous country in this country. The Emergency Tariff which has been put into effect has caused a greater demand for our products.

But it has hampered the commerce of both countries, and the results are evident.

"For the future of the two countries is inextricably interwoven. The economic well-being of each is too dependent upon that of the other to allow of a permanent hampering of trade."

Free States Asked British Regiment to Help—Authority Lacking

HALIFAX.—July 17.—In fighting over the question of whether the Free States, finding themselves hard pressed by the requirements of the British regiment, should be relieved of their obligation to help, the Free States have agreed that they do not possess power to give such aid, whereupon the Free State commanding officer, Lt. Col. J. A. McLean, at Halifax, has sent a cablegram to the authorities at Edinburgh, who sent the order.

Later it developed that the authority of the Free States to make such a decision was not justified, so a despatch of troops from Edinburgh to the Free States came back from the Free States.

MORAL HAZARD IS FACTOR IN AUTO INSURANCE

Good Personal Character Is Now
Primary Factor to Insurance
Canvassers

An interesting factor which has become little known to the great majority of motorists who apply for insurance is the fact that many more substantial companies are now looking very carefully into the moral hazard of the man applying for automobile insurance. In other words, the personal character of the automobile owner is being investigated to a degree never before known. This investigation is not a novelty to some companies, but in its recent tendency toward greater severity it is taking new in automobile insurance. Not only in New York, but in the many other large cities in the country this character investigation is very common. The investigation is primarily due to the heavy losses of the past year due to the increased use of motor vehicles for offensive purposes. Certain motor car owners who have had the unfortunate experience of having their applications denied would doubtless find in the final analysis that the reason for their personal characteristics involving possibly some financial or social carelessness or suspicious living or carelessness or suspicious use of the car, had been named an unassured. Perhaps the most rigid observed.

A representative of one of the group of companies in this city which is making the moral hazard basis of its automobile insurance said yesterday that he believed that 50 per cent of the applications for insurance were being refused. This fact, to many motorists, appears as something unusual in the field of automobile insurance. He also added that interest in the moral hazard and aggregate value of motor insurance by these companies has shown a decided increase. Perhaps the most careful discrimination on the part of these companies in their insurance on responsible concerns.

How thoroughly this moral hazard investigation is carried on is shown in the case of an applicant from a town several miles from New York City. The report sent from the agent was fairly good, but the representative had the application returned and requested an investigation by an agent of a large credit company, now making its headquarters in New York. Investigations for a large group of insurance companies were made. This report showed nothing detrimental in the man himself, but indicated that he had a reputation of low character and suspected of selling with illegitimate means. It was with the company regarded as a detrimental moral hazard, as the application can, even without any application of his own, might be taken for objectionable uses, and the insurance application was rejected.

To determine how careful the character of the motor car applicant is being investigated, the following list of questions are required to be filled out by the agent to whom the application is made:
